

IS DUE TO INTERNATIONAL

High Prices of Stock Believed to Be Effected by Big Show.

CATTLE SELL AT $9.10

At Chicago during the last month best native cattle have sold up to $9.10, range beefs—that never consumed a handful of grain—up to $7.60 hogs at $8.60 and Western range lambs at $7.60.

These prices are a source of rich profits and accelerated prosperity to the skillful feeders and ranchmen, who have turned to Chicago as usual as the most promising, surest and highest market for live stock. They are also a source of pride and gratification to the busy men who are interested in the affairs of Chicago's great live stock market.

It took men of courage and confident understanding to feed the cattle. The cost of feeding material in recent years and the necessity of knowing the intricacies of economical feeding and the character of young cattle to make good beef prospects has increased accordingly.

Who were these strong-hearted feeders then for the most part?

Who are these men who have profited by the sale of many cattle at $8 and upward and hogs as high as $8.50 at $8.60.

If a close canvass of them could be made it is safe to say a very large proportion of them would be found to be the men who have profited materially by the knowledge they have gained in judging the merits of cattle and the methods of feeding at the International Live Stock Exposition, held in Chicago a few weeks before the holiday season each year during the last nine years.

At this annual exposition the farmer or feeder interested in live stock of any class may see the very best productions of America for the year, in single or car load lots. He may study the points and general conformation of the best feeding cattle after they have been selected as prize winners by the best judges in America. He may see the best finished beef product the most skillful feeders of the world have produced. He may learn the plans and methods of the most successful producers of cattle and other classes of live stock. He may witness a battle in the show ring of the greater aggregation on the continent of the best bred animals, in which almost every celebrated flock or herd in America and many foreign countries are represented, and he may enjoy at night a display of these in a brilliantly lighted amphitheater, together with a grand horse show that cannot fail if he be a true American, to enthrall his heart with the grandeur and importance of the live stock industry in his country.

BELLE UNION MEETING.

Wednesday evening, October 27, a meeting was called for all persons interested in making arrangements for a Farmer's Institute at this place. Four persons responded to the call, namely, Ernest G. Dorsett, Aught Hill, Forest Hurst and A. R. Hurst.

The meeting was very enthusiastic and some very interesting talks and good suggestions were given. It was the unanimous vote that a Farmer's Institute be held at Belle Union on Wednesday, January 19, 1910.

The following committee on program was appointed: Ernest G. Dorsett, Forest Hurst and Aught Hill. Forest Hurst was appointed as a committee of one to get a place to hold the meeting.

The program committee are considering a grain show in connection with the institute. By a vote of the members present the following subjects were selected for the state speaker, "Forage Crops and Pastures," Corn Culture and Improvement.

County Chairman Knauer and Mrs. Hazelett of Greencastle were also placed on the program. Arrangements are now being made for home talent to develop.

PRAISE FOR THE FEDERATION

Women Returning From the State Meeting Proud of the Organization

PLAN FOR NEW CAMPAIGN

Woman's Responsibility the Key Note of the Discussions at South Bend This Week.

The women from Greencastle who have just returned from South Bend where the annual meeting of the State Federation of Women's Clubs has been held, are loud in their praises of the work accomplished by the state organization. They point out that the work done by the Federation in the fight against tuberculosis alone would make the Federation worthy of the thanks of the state. Now, however, it proposes to widen the scope of its campaign. The theme of the week's work at South Bend was "Woman's Responsibility" and the clubs are feeling responsible for many more things than before. They will at once start campaigns in behalf of the dependent girls and will also take up the subject of social hygiene, a subject that is well worthy the best work of the women and men of the state.

It is indeed fortunate that women will take up and fight these battles. Men, unfortunately, are slow to take up the fight for morality and abstract good. Most men are too prone to demand that there be dollar somewhere behind the movement, or that politics be connected with it somewhere before they act. Women, on the other hand, acting upon a higher plane, work for the altruistic purpose of freeing all from disease and crime without a reward other than accomplishment. The Federation will do much if it can keep the needs of the state in these lines from being forgotten by the men in their over-zealous hunt for dollars and fame.

SUIT ON NOTE FILED

The Bank of Waveland, through its attorneys, Allee and Hughes, has filed suit against John C. Wilson, as executor of the estate of John H. Wilson, and against numerous heirs of the said John H. Wilson to secure the payment of a note for $3,000 now alleged to be due and unpaid. The note was signed by John H. Wilson, who died before the note reached maturity. John C. Wilson was made executor, and the plaintiff alleges that the note is now past due and is unpaid in principal and interest. The plaintiff further alleges that some of the minor heirs and the Bank of Bainbridge are claiming an interest in the real estate covered by the mortgage to secure the note, and the plaintiff asks that judgment be rendered against these claimants and for the plaintiff.

BIG BIRTHDAY DINNER.

On Sunday, Oct. 24, 1909, a surprise dinner was given in honor of Mrs. Sarah Hutcheson, being her 47 birthday anniversary. Mrs. Hutcheson is the wife of A. E. Hutcheson, a well known carpenter residing in Manhattan.

The surprise was well planned and carried out successfully. Those present were as follows: A. E. Hutcheson and family, L. A. Zaring, wife and daughter, Lola, J. P. Wright, Phil. Hutcheson and family, Frank Daggy and wife, Mr. E. Herbert, wife and son, Aunt Katie Duell, Zaring Duell and family, Emmitt Duell, Dave Pollom, wife and daughter, Katie, James Young, Walter Young, Mr. and Mrs. Doc Young, Lizzie Hnote, J. L. Mullinix, Cecil Mullinix, A. O. Winders, Hannah Gardner and family, George Gardner, Ross Mercer, Margaret Evans and others that the names were not given.

All those present enjoyed the day much and all hope to meet again on many similar occasions.

HE SPEAKS FOR THE KIDS

Judge Lindsey Addresses Large Audience in Meharry Hall.

TALKS OVER TWO HOURS

Denver Jurist Makes Brilliant Plea For the Saving of Criminals from Themselves and the Ignorant Methods of State Prosecution.

When a man who has done something steps upon the platform to tell of what he has done he always has attention. On Thursday night Judge B. F. Lindsey, of Denver, speaking in Meharry Hall, held a large audience for two hours and ten minutes while he gave a brief sketch of the struggle for reform methods of dealing with juvenile crime, not only in Colorado, but over the whole United States. The central thought of the address was that man, or a boy, is worth more than dollars, and there was often great bitterness in his denunciations of vice and the great business interests as the controlling forces in placing the dollar above the man.

Judge Lindsey's career has been unusual. With a personality given to but few, and an intellect far beyond the average, he has done more for modern criminology than any other living man. It is to him that Indiana owes her present delinquency laws. It is to him that we owe the juvenile court, crowded and efficient as it is. It is to him that some hundreds of men, on the way to lives of crime, owe their rise to decent citizenship. His influence over those on the road to crime is almost incredible. That he has sent over five hundred men and boys long distances, alone, to make application to reformatories and prisons, going merely upon their promise to him, is scarcely to be believed. And yet this is a matter of record. Young men with murder as their goal have come under his influence, and on a promise have taken their commitment papers and traveled all night to reach the prison where they were sent for a term of years. And they have returned again from that prison to take up jobs found for them by this same judge, and to become honest men.

This was the bright side of the picture shown last night. On the other side was the shadow, so common in these days, the union of vice, and politics and corruption. The picture of the church deacon who was a political wardheeler and built his fortune from the suffering and crime of the people, who, with his associates in politics and vice, blocked beneficial legislation and struggled to blot out modern civilization was very vivid.

For two hours this remarkable man, without a trick of oratory, with utter simplicity born of sincerity, held the audience with his presentation of the facts of criminal life. No one who heard the speaker but must have promised himself to hereafter do more for humanity by doing more for the unfortunate and still more against the fortunate who see only money though it be placed against a back ground of poverty, death and crime. It was a plea for citizenship as well as for the kids, a plea that no one could afford to forget.

WORLEY TIMMONS BUYS THE KLEINBUB SHOP.

Sale Made Wednesday and New Owner Took Possession of Business This Morning—Frank Kleinbub Out of Business.

The Kleinbub Barber Shop, which for years has been owned and operated by different members of the Kleinbub family was sold Wednesday afternoon by Frank Kleinbub to Joe Kleinbub and Worley Timmons. Mr. Timmons took possession of the business this morning and will continue to run the shop. Frank Kleinbub who has been working in the shop will not be retained by Mr. Timmons. As yet he has not determined what he will do.

THEY MAY TAX THE STUDENTS

Men Claiming Greencastle as Residence, and Here Last March, Are Liable for Poll Tax as Voters.

CLERKS WILL GIVE NAMES

It is probable that the students who are claiming Greencastle as their home, and voting in the city elections will be asked to contribute to the expenses of the city. The law provides that a man is liable to assessment where he resides if he be a resident there at the time of the taking of the assessment. Students who voted Tuesday must have been resident here last spring, since those entering school this fall have not been sixty days in the county. Such students are liable to assessment as voters, and the poll tax in the city of Greencastle is $3.75. The polling clerks will certify the names of such student voters to the county assessor who will investigate each case, and if the student is not assessed elsewhere will place his name upon the omitted assessment roll.

This is manifestly fair, for any one wishing to take part as a citizen in an election should be willing to pay some share of the expenses. Fraternity houses do not contribute, though sharing the fire and police protection, and the students should.

HALLOWEEN FOR BEN HUR

The members of the Ben Hur Lodge entertained their wives and friends Oct. 27 a Halloween party given at their hall. The evening was a most enjoyable one to the many who were there to indulge in the games of the evening.

The entertainment consisted of Halloween games. The first of the evening was an old fashioned spelling match. Ralph Crawley was the first "deceived" by the word "deceive" and was the first to take his seat. Miss Kaye Sellers was the champion speller and received a beautiful picture as a prize. Mr. Crawley was given a set of "A. B. C." blocks as a booby prize.

The next contest was a lung tester. Twenty lighted candles were placed on a tray and the one who blew out the most with one breath was the winner. Worlington Crawley was the winner and received two glass candlesticks as a prize. Hubert Jordan succeeded in pinning the most clothespins on a rope and received a wash-board. Mrs. Hinkle received a booby prize, a clothes-line.

A most interesting contest was the yawning contest. Mrs. John Cook was awarded the first prize, she being able to yawn "larger" than anyone else. Mrs. Lincoln Snider received first place in the apple contest, and was given a large apple dish as a prize. An apple suspended from the ceiling by a string was the target of attack. The one who could take a bite of apple without touching it with his hands in the shortest time was the winner.

Refreshments consisting of Ple-Zee and cake were served.

WERE MARRIED ON OCTOBER 27.

The marriage of Miss Marie Cutler, daughter of Deck Cutler, and William H. Eiteljorge, a member of the firm of Eiteljorge and Company, the butchers, was solemnized Wednesday at the home of M. David Van Dyke, on Poplar street.

The marriage of the young people came as a surprise to their relatives and friends who were not given the least intimation that a wedding was to occur. Mr. and Mrs. Eiteljorge left for Indianapolis immediately after the ceremony. They are expected to return here in a few days.

THOUGHTS FROM A REPUBLICAN

Some Extracts Taken from LaFollette's Magazine for October

G. O. P. IS FOR INTERESTS

Godd Reading For All Such as Believe in the Democratic Principles of the Rule of the People as Opposed to the Rule of the Interests.

"After the corn crop in Kansas is harvested this year," says Life, "there will be more dollars to the pocket in the state of Kansas," etc., etc., Whose pocket? Let's think.

There are two general kinds of socialism, democratic and plutocratic, with particular varieties in abundance. Professor Sumner defines one kind. "Socialism," he writes, "is any device or doctrine whose aim is to make some people fight the struggle for existence for others." This is plutocratic socialism, and isn't Protection one of its varieties? Let's think.

If manufacturers have tariff protection in order to pay high wages, why shouldn't their workmen have arbitration when they get low wages? Think it out.

The tariff committee of the National Association of Employing Lithographers congratulates the trade on having secured an upward tariff revision for their products. Are such congratulations quite respectful to President Taft? Isn't it unpatriotic, maybe, to contradict the President of our country even with the best intentions and on the firmest foundations of fact? Think it over.

"I have come to the conclusion that there have been only two kinds of government in the world so far—namely, thief rule and mob rule." Emma Go—No, not this time. The idea may be Emma Goldman's, but the words are the words of Franklin H. Giddings, one of the leaders in university sociology and a professor at Columbia University. Now, the puzzle—it's a double puzzle—is to find Professor Giddings's error; and, when you give that up, to choose from the two the category of the government at Washington. Thinking may do it.

What about this story that William Winter has been compelled to leave the New York Tribune where he has been dramatic critic since far back into the days of Horace Greeley? They do say that the theatrical trust put it up to the Tribune to get along without Mr. Winter's judgment on their productions, or else to worry through without their advertising, and that the Tribune was Barabian in its choice. But think; if a dramatic theater trust can control a great metropolitan daily's dramatic column, what might not be done with its editorial and news column by Big Business! The minds from the thought—most minds.

It "hurts the head to think—try it."

FEARED FIRE AT THE MILL

There was some excitement at the Barnaby Mill on Friday when a hot box in the mill caused some of the employees to think the mill on fire. An alarm was telephoned into the fire department and the team was just ready to start when a second message stated that there was no need of coming. The oil in the boxing of one of the machines took fire and filled the mill with smoke for some time.

HARLAN-HURST

The marriage of Miss Flossie Hurst, daughter of Mrs. John P. Montgomery, and Elvin Harlan, a farmer who lives near Stilesville, was solemnized Wednesday at the home of the bride's mother four miles southeast of Greencastle. Elder Gill of Cloverdale performed the ceremony which was witnessed by a number of friends and relatives of the bride and groom. Mr. and Mrs. Harlan will make their future home near Stilesville.

PUSHING THE CHAUTAUQUA

A Representative of the Redpath-Slayton Bureau Here

PLANS FOR GREENCASTLE

Representative Who Specializes in This Line Visits Business Men With Proposition For Next Summer.

The idea of having a Chautauqua at Greencastle was given another boost Thursday when H. M. Holbrook, representing the Redpath-Slayton Lyceum Bureau came to town to talk over prospects with the business men. Mr. Holbrook is an expert in organizing Chautauquas and has some very interesting stories to tell of the success of them in other cities and states. He intends to return later for a further canvass.

There is no doubt that a Chautauqua could be made to succeed here. There is no other attraction here in the summer. Greencastle people are continually going away to hear Chautauqua attractions. It would mean life and stir for Greencastle intellectual food for the people and business for the merchants. At least that has been the history of properly managed attractions in other places, according to Mr. Holbrook.

SUIT ON CONTRACT FILED

John Stwalley of Clay County Brings Suit Against Abraham Stwalley of Putnam in the Putnam Courts.

Suit has been filed by John Stwalley, Jr., of Clay County against Abraham Stwalley of Putnam County. The complaint alleges that Abraham Stwalley contracted with the plaintiff to care for Elizabeth Stwalley, the mother of the defendant, the defendant agreeing to reimburse the plaintiff. It is further alleged that it became necessary to provide nurses and physicians, since Elizabeth Stwalley became helpless and finally died. That the legitimate expense was $1000 and that the defendant refuses to pay this as per contract.

R. V. Goshorn of Brazil and S. A. Hays of Greencastle, are the attorneys for the plaintiff.

TEACHERS DINE

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Shoptaugh gave a lovely six o'clock dinner Wednesday to the teachers of their four children, Margaret, Glean, Stella and Henry. The hospitable home was beautifully decorated with cut-flowers and plants. The dining room was in white and crimson. A bouquet of white chrysanthemums was in the center of the table and this was surrounded by a wreath of crimson autumn leaves. The place cards were hand-painted autumn leaves.

The menu consisted of five courses and was delicious and beautifully served.

The teachers were Miss Dell Miller, Miss Anna Stone, Miss Buster, Miss Coss, Miss Rutledge, music and Miss O'Hair art and Miss Hattie Cladwell of Ladoga.

Mrs. Shoptaugh was assisted by Mrs. Sarah Hillis, Mrs. Bascom O'Hair and Mrs. Ollie Kelley. This dinner is given each year and the teachers look eagerly forward to the event. Miss Rutledge gave piano numbers, and Margaret and Stella also played. This was one of the most delightful events of the season.

BRAZIL AFTER BRYSON

While Bryson is Said to Be After Brazil's Water Works and Other Plums—Called Member of Republican Gang.

RUN REPUBLICAN PARTY THERE

The latest story affecting the present city campaign if true is one that involves the future welfare of the taxpayer of Brazil to such an extent that even the most indifferent citizen will sit up and take notice.

According to this story O. E. Adams, Harry Falls and John G. Bryson who are among the managers of the present campaign, are making the fight to elect the Republican city ticket for the sole purpose of grabbing the street light contract when the present contract expires a year from now and also getting possession of the city's water works system.

We would hesitate to give credence to such a rumor but for the fact that our information comes from a prominent Republican who is closely identified with the inner circle of the city administration and knows whereof he speaks.

As representative of the new was staggered this morning when this startling information was imparted to him and is loth to believe that these well known political managers are making their fight to get control of putting through their own selfish designs—Brazil News.

DR. NORTH GIVES ADDRESS

Sunday night at the Locust Street Church, Dr. North, of the University, spoke upon the subject of prison reform. Dr. North cited the different views, held in various ages, of the criminal. The first was the retributive—the attempt on the part of society to punish and "get even" with the criminal for his acts against society. The second view was the repressive, where criminals were not punished but simply restrained in prisons and by other methods, from further injuring society. Last and greatest comes the reform idea, where society looks upon the criminal as a man who has not had a chance, and upon a prison as a reformatory where the man is given not punishment, but a chance.

Dr. North spoke of the crowded conditions of our jails and prisons, and stated that our county jails were the great breeding places of crime, which is probably true, lack of isolation making the criminal the teacher of the yet scarcely vicious. His plea was for less work in the foreign field till we were more able to care for our own criminals and unfortunates.

Croup Cured and a Child's Life Saved.

"It affords me great pleasure to add my testimony to that of the thousands who have been benefited by Chamberlain's Remedy. My child Andrew, when only three years old was taken with a severe attack of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy his life was saved and today he is a robust and healthy boy," says Mrs. A. Coy, Jr., of San Antonio, Texas. This remedy has been in use for many years. Thousands of mothers keep it at hand and it has never been known to fail. For sale by all dealers.

THE UNIVERSITY SERMON

Sunday being the third Sabbath of the month, the regular University Sermon was delivered by President McConnell to a large and attentive audience. His text was from Matthew and the parable of the man, who invited to the feast came without proper clothing, the words being "How earnest thou here not having a wedding garment." The idea was that the man looked lightly upon the feast, and therefore did not sufficiently prepare for it. So today we look lightly upon many things because they are common and come without great applause and acclaim.

We have political liberty, and because it is now, after many battles, the heritage of us all, we are apt to look upon it lightly, and the ballot is corrupted and liberty profaned by dishonest voting. The address was of the usual high class for which Dr. McConnell, in Greencastle, is noted, and was not only enjoyed, but much discussed and praised.

PRINDLE STAYS 19 MINUTES

Dr. B. F. Roller and Charley Olson furnished some exciting sport for one of the biggest crowds that has seen a wrestling match in Indianapolis in recent years when they battled for forty-one minutes last night in Tomlinson Hall without a fall. Roller disposed of Frank Prindle, who put up a good fight for nineteen minutes but the task set for the doctor-wrestler in the remaining forty-one minutes of the hour in which he was to throw both men was too great a handicap.

A crowd of women, professional and business men and wrestling fans sat through four more or less interesting preliminary bouts before Dr. Roller appeared. He was greeted by cheers and the DePauw university yell when he stepped through the crowd.

Prindle was not without his friends and as he stalled Roller off minute after minute his supporters yelled. Roller was saving himself for his struggle with Olson and it was nineteen minutes before he got a half Nelson and crotch hold and slowly forced Prindle to the floor. A slow and somewhat tame bout between two boys who didn't bother about the finer points of the game was sandwiched in between the Prindle and Olson bout and whetted the appetites of the fans for the real thing.

Dr. Roller Makes Speech.

When Dr. Roller came out to meet Olson the crowd clamored for a speech and in a few words, recalling old college days and throwing bouquets at his opponents, he made a hit with the crowd.

Then the crowd called for Olson, who grinned and said: "I don't know anything. I'm here to wrestle."

For ten minutes Roller permitted Olson to take the aggressive, and working hard Olson threw Roller heavily to the floor twice.

Roller got on top, and for two minutes he worked on Olson, who wriggled out of a tight place and again got behind, getting a bar lock and crotch hold on Roller. Here the doctor brought his great strength into play and bridged and got behind Olson.

With his allotted time more than half gone Roller got busy, but time after time Olson broke half-nelsons, bar-locks and crotch holds, and as the time grew shorter the fight became more desperate, roughing it from time to time. In trying to work behind Olson got a leg hold on Roller and rushed him into the crowd, and when the men were shoved back on to the mat they kept their feet, neither man being able to rush his adversary into a hold that would bring him to the mat in the last three minutes of the bout.

Olson Willing to Wager.

After the bout Olson was so well pleased with the showing he made that he said he would wrestle Roller $1,000 a side for one fall.

"I would not make a bet on two falls in three," he said. "I am as fresh now as when I went on the mat and I am confident I can throw Dr. Roller in a one-fall match."

Dr. Roller will remain in the city today and witness the Butler-DePauw football game.—Indianapolis Star.

H. M. Ranney of the Putnam Electric Company is suffering with a badly burned hand. Last Saturday night M. Ranney's hand came into contact with a live wire at the power house and was so badly burned that it will be some time before he will be able to use it.

THE RAILROADS KILL LESS.

A decrease in the number of casualties on American railroads for the year ended June 30, 1909, is shown by a report published by the Interstate Commerce Commission.

During the year 2,791 persons were killed and 63,929 were injured on railroads as against 3,764 and 68,969 injured during the previous year. This was a decrease of 973 killed and 5,069 injured. The report shows that the number of employees killed in coupling and uncoupling cars and engines was 32 per cent less than during the fiscal year of 1908.

OCTOBER THE COLDEST

IN YEARS.

Average Temperature for Last Month Was 51 Degrees.

Although there were fifteen clear days, the weather during the month of October was the coldest it has been during the corresponding month for years, according to the monthly meteorological summary of the United States Department of Agriculture, which gives the average temperature at 51 degrees.

There were ten dark days. A few snowflakes were in evidence, but not enough to whiten the ground in this section of the state. There were six partly cloudy days. The days on which the precipitation of .01 inch or more occurred number eight. The total precipitation for the month was 3.23 inches.

The temperature from its highest to lowest, ranged from 78 to 26 degrees, the warmest day being the 8th and the coldest the 13th. The greatest precipitation in twenty-four hours was that of 17-18, being 1.18 inches.

The only fogs were those of Oct. 1 and 2. There were thunderstorms Oct. 22 and 23, and the only killing frost was that of Oct. 13. South winds prevailed throughout the month with a total movement of 1,433 miles, having an average hourly velocity of ten miles. On Oct. 22 the maximum velocity was thirty-seven miles an hour, which prevailed for five minutes.

COMMISSIONERS MEET

The county commissioners were in session Monday. Little business beyond the regular claims was done. The case of G. C. Parker et al road in Mill Creek township was before the board, and proof of publication and posting was filed. Leave was given to amend the petition by inserting the words, a certain highway, where required by law. The petition was then declared in due form and sufficient.

The case of the John M. Ellis road in Mill Creek Township was also taken up. The proof of publication and posting was filed and the petition declared in due form and sufficient. Both it and the Parker road were continued.

Forced into Exile.

Wm. Upchurch of Glen Oak, Okla., was an exile from home. Mountain air, he thought would cure a frightful lung racking cough that had defied all remedies for two years. After six months he returned, death dogging his steps. "Then I began to use Dr. King's New Discovery," he writes "and after taking six bottles I am as well as ever." It saves thousands yearly from desperate lung diseases. Infallible for Coughs and Colds, it dispels Hoarseness and Sore Throat. Cures Grip, Bronchitis, Hemorrhages, Asthma, Croup, Whooping Cough. 50 cents and $1.00. Trial bottle free, guaranteed by Owl Drug store and Red Cross Drug store.

REBEKAHS GIVE HALLOWEEN PARTY.

The Rebekahs celebrated Halloween by having a masquerade party at their hall Monday night which was a grand success in every way. The costumes and make-ups far excelled anything of the kind the Rebekahs have had before.

At about 9 o'clock the guessing contest began which lasted some time as there were visitors from other places who were not guessed at all.

Mrs. Clyde Williams and Mrs. C. H. Melkel received the prizes. After the masques were removed the boxes of candy were opened and the pieces drawn out and matched, in this way your partner to supper was found.

After supper was served a good time was had until a late hour.

Mrs. Mary Cox has returned to her home at Union City after a visit here with Miss Elizabeth and Miss Genevieve Ames. Miss Elizabeth Ames returned Friday from Louisville where she was called by the critical illness of Mrs. Mary Windsor Cox. Mrs. Cox is much improved and probably will be taken to Union City next week.

DECAY OF TIMBER COSTS MILLIONS.

Prompts Government to Experiment on Best Method of Preserving.

Millions of feet of timber and finished lumber rot every year in railroad ties, bridges, piles, farm buildings, fences, poles, and mine props. The lumber consuming public of the United States pays, perhaps, thirty to forty million dollars a year to make good the losses from wood decay.

These great drains are a source of more and more concern each year. Chemists and engineers who have to do with the uses of wood are working unceasingly on the problem. The U. S. Forest service has men who devote their whole time to it. The importance of the problem can not be over estimated. Millions of dollars are annually saved by preservative treatment of timbers, but much yet remains to be learned.

Wood decay is caused by fungus, a vegetable growth sometimes so small that it can be seen only with the microscope. Its roots or branches, like minute hairs, force their way into the wood tissues and absorb or eat away the solid parts. The collapse which results is called decay. Timber is artificially preserved by forcing into it substances which prevent the growth of fungi. As long as this substance is present in sufficient quantity, the germs of decay—the threads, and spores of fungus—can not enter, and the wood is preserved. This often means doubling and sometimes trebling the life of the timber.

The United States government considers the investigations of the preservative treatment of timber of such importance that the business of one office of the United States Forest service, that of Wood Preservation, with new headquarters at Madison, Wis., is given over entirely to the work of experiments in co-operation with railroad companies and other corporations and individuals in prolonging the life of railroad ties, mine props, bridge timbers, fence posts and transmission poles.

The lengthening of the life of timber means the saving of thousands of dollars annually through doing away with the heavy expense of labor and cost of material for renewals.

Gatarrh the Cause of Consumption

At least one-half of the consumption of the world can be traced to a tarrh.

Here are some symptoms of a tarrh: If you have any of them a tarrh is there while there is yet time.

Is your throat raw?
Do you sneeze often?

Not Sisters

Now and again you see two women passing down the street who look like sisters. You are astonished to learn that they are mother and daughter, and you realize that a woman at forty or forty-five ought to be as fair as a girl.

The general health of woman is so intimately associated with the local health of the essentially feminine organs that there can be no red cheeks and round form where there is female weakness.

Women who have suffered from this trouble have found prompt relief and cure in the use of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It gives vigor and vitality to the organs of womanhood. It clears the complexion, brightens the eyes and reddens the cheeks.

No alcohol, or habit-forming drugs is contained in "Favorite Prescription." Any sick woman may consult Dr. Pierce by letter, free. Every letter is held as sacredly confidential, and answered in a plain envelope. Address: World's Dispensary Medical Association, Dr. R. V. Pierce, Pres., Buffalo, N. Y.

SHAMROCK FARMING.

This Pretty Little Clover Cultivated for Home Use and for Export for St. Patrick's Day.

Although the shamrock has been Ireland's accepted emblem for many centuries the custom of wearing it on St. Patrick's day has only become universal within the last few years. It is curious, but certainly true, that the present popularity of the custom, even among nationalists, is largely due to her Irish soldiers.

The increased demand for shamrock in Ireland at this time of the year has been accompanied by a hardly less notable increase in the demand from Great Britain and the colonies, and from the United States. In fact, for at least a fortnight in the year the sale and exportation of shamrock have come to constitute a not unimportant Irish industry. In some few districts it appears "shamrock farms" have been established where the plant is specially cultivated for the English and foreign markets. There are one or two flourishing farms of this character in County Cork, from which at this time of year thousands of neatly packed boxes go forth to all corners of the earth. For the most part, however, the plant is picked from its native bogs and hollows. The south of Ireland supplies the majority of the Irish and English markets. The moist and warm climate of Munster is specially suited to the temper of the shamrock, which there takes a deeper and tenderer green than in the more northern counties. Even in Ireland the common clover and other plants are sometimes found doing duty for the genuine article. But the deception becomes annually less practicable, since it is now a part of every Irishman's patriotism to be a connoisseur in shamrock.

Mainly through the efforts of Lady Limerick and her "Shamrock League" the shamrock flourishes exceedingly by the banks of the Shannon and has, indeed, been turned to good account in connection with many useful and even national purposes. The league was started eight years ago, and every year recruits an increase in its output. The gathering of the shamrocks has become a sort of subsidiary industry among the people in the local milk factories many of which were established by the late Sir Thomas Cleve. Tons of shamrock are sent annually to Limerick city, whence it is exported to England and America. The proceeds are devoted to the aid of the soldiers' and sailors' help society in Ireland and to other charitable objects. I am informed that the league does a growing trade with the United States, Egypt and India, and that the steady pressure of orders may soon lead to the establishment of a regular shamrock farm.

Since its institution Lady Limerick's league has annually supplied the shamrock which, by royal command, is distributed to the Irish guards on St. Patrick's day. It is a great pleasure to be able to add that one of the old traditions of St. Patrick's day in Ireland is now falling every year into worse discredit. Even persons who get drunk frequently now make a point of honor not to be drunk on the national holiday.

Rate of a Perpetual Clock.

In the eighteenth century an ingenious jeweller named James Cox of the line, London, constructed a clock which was rendered perpetual by a cleverly contrived mechanism, which utilized the rise and fall of the mercury to supply the necessary energy.

The movement of the mercury actuated a cog wheel in such a manner that whether the mercury rose or fell the wheel always revolved in the same direction and kept the weights that supplied the movement of the clock always wound up. The barometer bulb fitted into a mercury cistern. The cistern hung attached to the extremities of two rockers, to the left end of one and the right end of the other.

The bulb was similarly attached to the other extremities of the rockers, which are thus moved every time there is a change in the amount of mercury in bulb and cistern respectively. The rockers actuated a vertical ratchet, and the teeth were so arranged that the wheel only controlled could only move in one direction, whether the ratchet ascended or descended.

The clock itself was an ordinary one, but of very strong and superior workmanship, and was jewelled with diamonds at every bearing, the whole being enclosed in a glass case which, while it excluded dust, displayed the entire mechanism. The fate of Cox's clock was brought to light in a work called "Travels in China," published in 1804 and written by John Barrow.

In this book it is stated that in the list of presents carried by "the late Dutch Ambassador" were "two grand pieces of machinery that were part of the curious museum of Cox." One of these apparently was this perpetual clock, and it was taken by the Dutch Embassy to China, where in the journey from Canton to Peking both the instruments suffered some slight damage. Efforts were made to repair them at Peking, but on leaving the capital it was discovered that the Chinese Prime Minister Ho-tchang-tong, had substituted two other clocks of very inferior workmanship and had reserved Cox's mechanism for himself. —London Times.

With all respect to the missionaries, who are very good people, we never yet saw one that we would care to eat.

THIS CAME FROM NEW YORK.

A New Yorker, dining a Philadelphia friend, desired to show him all the delicacies of the season. One dish in particular the Philadelphian exclaimed over in delight. "That is made of snails," said his New York host. "Don't you have snails in Philadelphia?" "Oh, yes," responded the Philadelphian; "but we can't catch the pretty things." —September 14, 1909.

CONCERNING THIS PREMIUM GIVING.

This is not a lottery or game of chance, in any respect, but a straightforward advertising business proposition. We want you to become better acquainted with this fast growing store—its liberal policy to its customers—its big value giving power—and the most dependable stock of drugs hereabouts, at the lowest prices possible.

There will also be on exhibit in the Red Cross Drug Store's window a reproduction of the famous Mary Washington Monument, made of soap. This monument is being erected by the women of America to the memory of the mother of our first president, and is the only monument in the world erected by women to a woman.

Special Price 30 Days 5c a Cake, 60c a Dozen.

To Stimulate Rapid Buying of Merchandise for the Next 30 Days and to Induce Every Person in Greencastle to Become a Customer for These Soaps

We are giving away ABSOLUTELY FREE $50 in presents to the persons who will estimate nearest to the number of cakes of soap used in the construction of the Capitol Building as shown in the Owl Drug Store window. This is not a lottery, but purely a test of skill in counting, as every cake is in plain sight. The contest is open to everyone, excepting employees of this store. Men, women and children have the same chance. The envelope containing the correct number has been placed in the hands of James L. Randel, cashier of the Central National Bank, in a sealed envelope, having been sealed by the decorator of the window, and absolutely no one knows the number, not even the proprietor of the store. The envelope will be opened at our store on the evening of the last day and the prizes awarded.

The prizes will be awarded to the first fifteen persons who have estimated the nearest to the number of cakes of soap used in the construction of the Capitol Building as shown in our window. We are offering $30.00 in merchandise. Come and learn about the contest. Prizes will be divided equally in case of a tie.

Recently Secretary Knox and President Taft called for and received the resignation of Charles R. Crane, who was on his way to China as minister from the United States. Now Senator LaFollette, of Wisconsin, declares that Crane was asked to resign because he was not a Wall Street man and was opposed to the Wall Street attitude toward the Chinese loan. LaFollette further declares that Crane made no statements that he could not be accused of telling anything not already public knowledge. If these charges be true, then there is a closer relation between Wall Street and the present administration the public had guessed, many as are the signs of such partnership.

TAFT'S TRIP.

President Taft's trip is in many ways a record breaker, but in nothing has it been more remarkable than in the police protection given him. If the reports from the southwest are true, in order to assure Taft, the police arrested all the persons in the towns where Taft staid who had been connected with the socialist party and the persons were held till Taft was out of the city. This has been done before in Europe, but no such wholesale arrest of innocent persons has ever occurred before in the United States. In general a charge of vagrancy was slated against the men, who were, in each instance, known to be respectable and self supporting. If this is necessary for a presidential trip, then we had better have no more trips.

If socialists can be arrested without other reason than that the president is passing through town, so may any of the other of the citizens of the United States. It is such actions as this that drives men into the socialist ranks.

THE OPPORTUNITY.

Woodrow Wilson, president of Princeton university, speaking to a Democratic club at Plainfield, New Jersey, denounced the Republican tariff law in this wise:

"The whole system is a system of favors, by which not the country at large is profited but certain perfectly distinguishable beneficiaries of the government and the party which grants the favors. The demoralizing effect of the whole thing—its corrupting effect upon our politics, its enfeebling effect upon our political principles is now evident to every man who allows himself to think without obscuring his view by private considerations of self-interest.

He declared that the Democratic party is free from engagements and is facing an unusual opportunity, while the Republican party is discredited. Of the latter party he said:

"The party in power has become entangled with all sorts of interests, great and small, has lost its freedom of choice in a hundred ways, and may be said, by reason of its peculiar policies, to have allied itself with something less than the nation as a whole."

Mr. Wilson's view of the Democratic attitude is this:

"The debates of our coming campaigns must center upon the means we are to use in accomplishing ends which the whole country sees that it is necessary to accomplish. The Democratic principle is that government should study not only regulation but individual liberty and individual responsibility, and that no regulation incompatible with the freedom and development of the individual is tolerable."

PRISON REFORM.

Sunday was "prison reform day" in most of the churches of this country. Addresses were delivered upon the subject of prison reform from many pulpits. It is safe to say that these addresses were largely based upon one or the other of two theories. One theory of reform is that developed by theorists from the depths of an easy chair at long range from the mouths and fists of the prisoners. It is based upon theories and upon visits more or less infrequent to various penal institutions, where, in the presence of the guards the inmates are viewed and studied.

The theory, quite different is evolved from a basis of fact by men actually in contact with the prison conditions. These theories are doubly valuable because they show two things: 1st, that men may come in contact with criminals with out sinking in the scale of civilization to the level of a "keeper," the one thing that makes it almost impossible to have decent prisons and insane asylums. 2nd, because these theories are founded in justice and not in pity. The theory of the first class of reformers lays stress upon the physical things that surround the prisoners. The second class of reformers lays stress upon the men and the methods that surround the prisoner. The first class of reformers forget all but the prisoner, and have little conception of the relation of the citizens of the state toward that prisoner in taxes. Thus secretary Butler objected to a man sentenced to jail for wife and child desertion spending six months in a jail where his only chance to take a bath was in a wash tub, but he forgot to give much pity to the wife who toiled daily for many hours at the wash tub to support the child and herself, and who never saw as good meals and accommodations as her husband received in jail. All of agree upon a few fundamental propositions. First that a jail should be sanitary. To this end each jail should have a carbolic acid bath of such strength as to be an absolute germicide, and into this every person brought to jail should go. Second the furniture and bedding should be of the simplest and plainest, straw mattresses often refilled with ticking either new or antiseptically washed. Frequent washing and painting of the cells. The meals should be plain and plenty, without luxury. Finally there should be isolation of prisoners, a difficult thing unless sentence is made a part of prison discipline, or the jail be so large that prisoners are not within talking distance. Opportunity for bathing should be given, but simple appliances are sufficient. More ought not to be provided because sixty per cent. of the tax payers do not have living accommodations superior to those just outlined, and it is unfair to ask them to provide for prisoners accommodations better than those possessed for themselves.

Our insane asylums, our tuberculosis hospitals and our unfortunates in general, together with our criminals are a burden scarcely understood by those who are not familiar with the state and county budgets. The other theory of reform, advanced by the practical reformers lay stress upon the mental attitude of courts and prison officials toward the prisoner. The greatest trouble in all institutions, asylums as well as prisons, is to keep our cruelty and the retributive idea. If these can be blotted out, then the physical conditions are not important. Judge Lindsey did not mention, in his lecture here, the physical side of the prisoners condition, so far as food and clothing went. In some places the food is terrible. But given good food of the plainest, ordinary sanitation and intelligent guardianship, plus justice and sympathy by the courts and it is all that can be asked now by the ablest reformers. Dr. Butler's jail bath tubs of white porcelain must wait awhile, all but initial acid bath, as practiced in New York.

AN EARLY MORNING BLAZE

The fire department was called, shortly after five Wednesday morn to S. Indiana street where they found the barn belonging to Joe Hammond a mass of flames. Joe went to the barn early with a lantern and surprised a rooster which flew against his lantern and overturned it, starting the fire. The top of the barn and considerable hay in the loft was burned. The shop belonging to Mr. Callendar next door was scorched but not injured. Mr Hammond states that the property is insured for enough to cover part of the damage done.

The fire department made a hard fight and the fire was out and the men back in the engine house within two hours.

POINTING DEADLY WEAPON

Mrs. India Akers Came to Town This Morning to See Her Husband who is in the Jail Charged with Burglary.

Mrs. India Akers, wife of John Akers, now in jail charged with burglary, came to Greencastle from Cloverdale Wednesday to visit the prisoner. While here she was placed under arrest charged with pointing a deadly weapon, and was taken before the mayor, who held her for trial on Friday under bond of two hundred dollars. The bond was signed by Mike Kelly at whom she pointed the revolver.

The occurrence of which the arrest in the result, was in Cloverdale on Monday when Deputy Sheriff Kelly went to that town to arrest John Akers. While Kelly and Marshal Hunter of Cloverdale, were struggling with Akers, who had tried to shoot, Mrs. Akers appeared with a revolver and pointing it at the men, declared she would shoot. The weapon was torn from her hand by the deputy sheriff before there was time to shoot. Today he went upon her bond rather than to see her go to jail.

No charge has as yet been filed against Mrs. Akers as an accomplice of John Akers in the burglaries, though such action may be taken. Mrs. Akers visited her husband in the jail, and had with her little boy of some three years. The case is a pitiful one from the standpoint of the woman and child.

DAVE MAZE IS DEFEATED

In Cloverdale Tuesday the voters mixed things up so much that when the returns were counted there was about an equal division between the candidates of both parties. D. R. Maze, well known here where he was a resident while sheriff of the county was defeated for trustee of the first district by F. M. Cole, Republican. Charles Hunter, the present town marshal and a Democrat was re-elected over J. M. Meek by a plurality of 13. L. S. Runyan, Democrat, defeated J. J. Long, Republican, for trustee of the second district, J. P. Richardson, Republican was successful in the third district over J. L. Knight. O. V. Smith, Democrat, was elected clerk and treasurer over T. J. Nixon by a majority of eleven.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years and by constantly failing to cure with local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, O., is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful, it acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials.

THE HONORS ARE DIVIDED

Parties Split Even on the Head of the Ticket in Greencastle.

DEMOCRATS LOSE COUNCIL

Quiet Election in Which Tickets Are Badly Scratched and the Student Vote is the Controlling Factor.

Both the Democrats and the Republicans have room to rejoice over the results of the election yesterday. On the head of the ticket the two parties broke even, that is the Republicans get the mayor by a small majority and the Democrats get the clerk by a slightly larger margin. The student vote is largely credited with the result as a majority of the student voters cast their ballots for the university men, who were Sayers and Miller. There was much scratching of the Republican ticket. In several of the precincts the Republican councilman ran considerably ahead of the candidate for mayor. It was in the south precinct of the second ward and in the fourth ward that Sayers ran ahead of Sutherland, for in the first and in the third Sutherland had a slight advantage over his running mate.

The ward contests were in no case close except in the third where Chas. Leutke won over Ves Miller by the small margin of nine votes. In the second and fourth the Republicans won easily and in the first the Democrats won with equal ease. The Republicans took both the candidates for councilmen at large by good pluralities, Cook, who was the favorite, distancing Bittles by almost a score of votes.

The fight in many places turned upon the question of improvements and many voters cast their ballots for the Republican candidates under the belief that they were against sewers and further improvements of streets other than the main thoroughfares.

As a whole the people gain much. Professor Naylor, of the second ward, has let it be known from the first that he was out of harmony with the present administration and its way of doing business. He has declared that when he takes his place in the council he will not be a Republican, but a Representative of the people. Professor Naylor's word is good in this, and the city to be correspondingly congratulated. Chas. Leutke has had but little love for the present administration, and will also secede it that the people get as fair a deal as the Republican party. Mr. Jones, while not so outspoken as Professor Naylor and Mr. Leutke, is also less partisan than most of the members of the present Republican council, while John Cook is also a people's man and ready for a square deal. Mr. Bittles is radically partisan, but is the only one upon the council who is likely to forget public interest for the interests of the party.

Another question that entered into the election was the next city marshal. It was whispered round the poles Tuesday, to soothe certain Republicans with a grouch, that Mr. Miller had promised not to appoint

Mr. Reeves again. This Mr. Reeves declares to be a fabrication for campaign purposes only, and intimates that he has the marshal job cinched for another administration.

DePauw university is well represented, having a councilman, the clerk and the mayor. The student vote practically placed all these gentlemen in their position, and the university, therefore, can be looked upon as the balance of power in close contests.

SERIOUS PRACTICAL JOKE

Mr. Pennington and Walter Cox were building some fence for Bert Moberly a few weeks ago, and it was a several days' job they stayed upon the farm at night. Cox's fertile brain busied itself one day concocting some scheme for amusement to while away the lonesome nights while removed from the gayeties of town. The result was that one evening at the close of the day's work he carried to the house an object which he kept concealed from Mr. Pennington. The revelation was to come later. He placed the object in Mr. Pennington's bed and waited impatiently for things to begin to happen. He had to wait a considerable time, for Worth was in no hurry to retire and Bert, who was not on to the game, went to bed before the explosion came. Finally the marked victim turned in and his attention was immediately directed towards some object in the bed. He investigated and discovered that it was a bottle, and in fumbling it the cork, which had been purposely loosened to await this moment, dropped out and then the plot suddenly reached a climax. It happened that the bottle contained a mixture of honey bees which had been placed in it with malice and aforethought. The liberated bees woke up and so did everybody in the household when they started to work. Bert, who was sleeping in an adjoining room, sprang out of bed and half way across the room when a weird, agonizing yell split the silence of night. Though only half awake the readily comprehended that there was something doing in Worth's room for the yells grew in intensity and the pounding and threshing noise that emitted from the room sounded like an elephant had gone on the warpath. He hastened to the door and asked to know the cause of the commotion; but if Worth heard him he was too busily engaged with his own affairs to impart information. Bert opened the door cautiously and peeped in. Worth was in the middle of the room doing a stunt that looked like a Highland fling only the step was faster and the arms were gesturing much more violently than the usual flopping incidental to a hoe down.

All things must eventually reach the end of the rope and even bees can't keep puncturing a man's hide indefinitely. Worth won out but it was a dear victory for he resembled a small pox patient at the wind up. —Danville Gazette.

The Food of Vim and Energy

One plateful of MOTHER'S OATS will produce more vim and vigor and energy and action—more vitality, more enthusiasm and more endurance, than many times the same bulk of meat, fish, fowl, or cereals of lower food value. MOTHER'S OATS are different from other's oats and different from ordinary oatmeal. They are put up in sanitary sealed packages. But there's more to MOTHER'S OATS than the package; they are the best oats in the world, the best selection of the best crops. Every batch that comes to our mills is screened and only the ripe, big grains are marketed. They are not only sterilized, but steamed (to burst the proteid cells); then rolled (to render the cooking easy), and after that, MOTHER'S OATS are crushed (to hasten their digestion)—easy work for the stove, easy work for the stomach and more work for the man.

There's a coupon in every package of Mother's Cereals. You can collect enough of them in a little while to own a Fireless Cooker for nothing. Your grocer will tell you how to get it free. There are a number of ways and all of them make it worth while to buy Mother's Cereals: Mother's Oats, Mother's Corn Meal (white or yellow), Mother's Wheat Hearts (the cream of the wheat), Mother's Hominy Grits, Mother's Corn Flakes (toasted), Mother's Coarse Pearl Hominy, Mother's Old Fashioned Steel Cut Oatmeal, Mother's Old Fashioned Graham Flour.

REVOLVER DUEL AT CLOVERDALE

Alleged Burglar Caught in Act of Entering the H. Denny Store.

AKERS RESISTS ARREST

Man and Wife with Revolvers Threaten Lives of Deputy Sheriff Kelly and Marshal Charley Hunter of Cloverdale—Officers Succeed in Getting Weapons From Desperate Persons.

A revolver duel between John Akers, formerly Editor of the Cloverdale Graphic, and Jerry Dunning, night watchman at Cloverdale, at near 4 o'clock on Monday, began a series of exciting events as have transpired in that town in many years.

The excitement was ended at near 11 o'clock on that morning when Akers was taken before Mayor Hays in this city to answer to a charge of breaking into the general store of H. Denny of Cloverdale. Akers pleaded not guilty and his trial was set for Friday morning at 10 o'clock. His bond was fixed at $1,000.

For months Cloverdale has been harassed by some one who continually was robbing some store or individual. No one could be caught in the act of robbing anyone, although suspicion strongly pointed toward some of the town's unemployed persons.

Monday morning at 4 o'clock Jerry Dunning, the night watchman of the town was making his rounds soon after the south bound Monon passenger train, which was running late this morning, passed through the town.

As the train passed through Mr. Dunning who was near the Denny store heard the crash of glass. He went to the rear of the Denny store to investigate.

Just as he reached the rear of the store he saw John Akers step through a window. The large pane of glass in the window had been broken out by some one hurling a large chunk of coal through it.

As Akers stepped into the store Dunning drew his revolver and shot at him. Akers then drew his revolver and several shots were fired by each man. Akers fired three times and Dunning three times. As Dunning fired his third shot Akers uttered an exclamation and fell back into the store.

Believing that he had hit Akers, Dunning left the store and went for assistance. Akers had not been hit, however, for as soon as Dunning left the store he went to his home. He was seen walking to his home by Dr. E. M. Hurst and John O'Mullane who had been attracted from their homes by the several shots which had been fired.

A telephone message was immediately sent Sheriff Stroube and he sent his deputy, Mike Kelly to Cloverdale on the 8:21 Monon train to arrest Mr. Akers. Upon his arrival at the town Mr. Kelly got Charley Hunter, the town marshal, and the two men went to the Akers home to arrest him.

Kelly's knock at the Akers home was answered by Mrs. Akers. As soon as the door opened Mr. Kelly, awaited no formality, but walked into the house, asking Mrs. Akers as he entered if Mr. Akers was there. She answered that he was.

The Deputy Sheriff, closely followed by Mr. Hunter walked into the house and found Mr. Akers lying on a couch. He professed to believe that the officers were after him for failing to pay his dog taxes and stated that he would come to town and attend to the matter without the officers having to take him.

As he talked to the officers he arose from the couch and walked over to a mantle.

Reaching to the mantle he picked up a revolver and uttering an oath, saying that he would kill the officers, started toward them. He had not been quick enough, however, for Kelly and Hunter were upon him, before the weapon could be leveled at them. As they were struggling with the desperate man, Mrs. Akers ran to the kitchen and just as the officers got the revolver away from her husband, she entered the room with a revolver leveled at the officers.

Leaving the man to Marshal Hunter, the deputy sheriff rushed upon the woman and finally after quite a struggle succeeded in getting the revolver away from her. As the man and woman fought for the possession of the revolver. Mrs. Akers stated that the officers would have to kill her to get it. This proved unnecessary, however.

The revolvers taken from the man and woman were of 32 caliber bulldog variety. The one which Mr. Akers picked up from the mantle had three empty cartridges in it. The three empty shells, the officers believe, were the three shots fired at Dunning.

The prisoner was then taken to the Monon station and brought here on the north bound train. Soon after his arrival he was taken before the mayor. Akers, when arrested, seemed to be under the influence of liquor or drugs. When the charge of breaking into the store was read to him, he stated that he knew nothing of it at all and that he was not guilty.

The people of Cloverdale believe that Mr. Akers has been the man, or one of the men, who has been committing the many robberies there during the past few months. They believe, that he has an accomplice in the work and suspicion strongly points to some more of the Cloverdale unemployed.

Cloverdale people know that Mr. Akers is a dangerous man and when the officer reached there that morning he was cautioned by many to be careful, as he was taking his life in his hands when he went to arrest Akers. The deputy believes that if Mr. Akers had had time to get the revolver before the officers were upon him that some one would have been shot.

Even after the officers had gotten the revolver away from him he fought them and finally he had to be handcuffed.

Armed with a search warrant issued from Greencastle, Cloverdale officers visited the home of John Akers, arrested on Monday for burglary and searched the place. The house had been watched all day after the officers left for Greencastle with Akers, and the citizens and officers were sure that nothing had been taken out. About fifty citizens accompanied the officers to the house.

On searching the premises some dozen sacks of flour were found, several varieties of canned goods, potatoes and other groceries. In the coal house was a considerable quantity of coal, though it is reported that coal merchants have not sold any coal to Akers for several years. When the officers discovered the vegetables and groceries, Mrs. Akers is said to have remarked that the plunder was all that came from the Denny store.

The arrest of Akers and the fight he put up is still the talk of the town of Cloverdale. Many do not understand how the arrest was pulled off without any one being hurt.

Warrants for the arrest of Mrs. Akers on the charge of complicity in the burglaries and with pointing a deadly weapon have not yet been sworn out. It is probable, however, that one or the other of these warrants will be issued soon, though there is little disposition to prosecute the woman.

OBITUARY

In memory of Mary Elizabeth Hampton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Hampton was born January 31, 1907. Died October 24, 1909. She took sick on Thursday night and died on Sunday morning a little after ten of Membranous croup.

She was a dear little baby and everything was done that loving hands could do, to save her but to no avail. We didn't think her seriously ill until Saturday morning when a physician was called; not knowing what ailed her we thought it was just a deep cold.

She was a dear little baby and one that will be missed greatly by all. Our hearts are sad and we are lonely without her; but God needed her for a bright star to go in his crown, so he called her home.

We miss those little feet that followed us. It makes our hearts sad when we see her vacant chair at the table, for we know it can never be filled on earth again. Jesus said suffer little children to come unto me, so she suffered great pain. The angels called her for she pointed on Saturday night and Sunday morning before she died. Our hearts are so full we can hardly live; but it was God's will she went home not ours.

We feel she is an angel in heaven. She leaves father and mother, three sisters, two brothers and a host of relatives and friends to mourn her loss.

We will miss her so much as she was so loving to us and all who knew her.

Sad and lonely is our home,

Where little Mary used to roam.

God so loved and took her home,

Mary that bright October morn.

The sweetest, sacred spot on earth,

That memory holds most dear.

Its that little mound of clay,

But she is sleeping in it.

Brightly the stars are gleaming,

Upon that quiet little grave.

There sleepeth, without dreaming,

The little Mary we loved so well,

But could not save.

Sweet and peaceful be thy rest,

Forget you! We can never,

God called you; He alone knows best

His will be obeyed forever.

Malinda Rodgers.

Malinda Rodgers was born in Monroe county, Feb. 16, 1828. Departed this life at the home of her son Isaac Rodgers, Oct. 25, 1909, age 81 years, 8 months and 9 days.

She was married to Jerry Rodgers 1853. To them were born seven children, four of whom preceded her to the better land. Three boys survive her, namely: Isaac, Paris and Charles; fifteen grand-children, 3 great-grand-children besides many near and dear friends and relatives to mourn her loss.

She was converted at the age of 11 years and united with the M. E. church. In 1883 she united with the Missionary Baptist Church at Eminence, Ind., and ever since has exhibited a uniform consistent Christian character. Her last illness though agonizing and extremely painful was borne with Christian fortitude.

May God in his infinite mercy sanctify this affliction to all, especially the bereaved family and relatives, whose sorrow Heaven alone can heal. The golden bowl is broken; the silver cord is loosed.

Bereaved children your loss is a great vacancy in your home which the world can never fill. But there is one who cares for the bereaved children; one in whom you can trust and one who can make you happy in life's darkest hour.

Your hearts are sad, but God's grace will be sufficient for you.

Boys your mother is gone. No more will your aching brows be soothed by her loving hands.

No more will her loving voice be heard, but live up to her counsels and admonitions; you will meet her in that land where it is one bright summer always and where storms do never come.

Life's race well run,
Life's work well done,
Life's crown well won,
Now comes rest.

AFTER SUFFERING ONE YEAR

Cured by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Milwaukee, Wis. — "Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has made me a well woman, and I would like to tell the whole world of it. I suffered from female trouble and fearful pains in my back. I had the best doctors and they all decided that I had a tumor in addition to my female trouble, and advised an operation. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound made me a well woman and I have no more backache. I hope I can help others by telling them what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done for me." — Mrs. Emma Imse, 833 First St., Milwaukee, Wis.

The above is only one of the thousands of grateful letters which are constantly being received by the Pinkham Medicine Company of Lynn, Mass., which prove beyond a doubt that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from roots and herbs, actually does cure these obstinate diseases of women after all other means have failed, and that every such suffering woman owes it to herself to at least give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial before submitting to an operation, or giving up hope of recovery.

Mrs. Pinkham, of Lynn, Mass., invites all sick women to write her for advice. She has guided thousands to health and her advice is free.

Stops Lameness

Much of the chronic lameness in horses is due to neglect.

See that your horse is not allowed to go lame. Keep Sloan's Liniment on hand and apply at the first sign of stiffness. It's wonderfully penetrating—goes right to the spot—relieves the soreness—limbers up the joints and makes the muscles elastic and pliant.

Here's the Proof.

Mr. G. T. Roberts of Resaca, Ga., R.F.D. No. 1, Box 43, writes:—"I have used your Liniment on a horse for swelled and effected a thorough cure. I also removed a spavin on a mule. This spavin was as large as a guinea egg. In my estimation the best remedy for lameness and soreness is."

Sloan's Liniment

Mr. H. M. Gibbs, of Lawrence, Kans., R.F.D. No. 3, writes:—"Your Liniment is the best that I have ever used. I had a mare with an abscess on her neck and one doc. bottle of Sloan's Liniment entirely cured her. I keep it around all the time for galls and small swellings and for everything about the stock."

Sloan's Liniment will kill a spavin, curb or splint, reduce wind puffs and swollen joints, and is a sure and speedy remedy for fistula, swellings, founder and thrush.

NAVE OF WESTMINSTER ABBEY.

Story of Its Building During 150 Years.

At a meeting of the British academy the dean of Westminster presented a paper of unusual historical interest. The paper was based on investigations of the Westminster fabric rolls, and stated that the nave of Westminster was 150 years in building. The money for it came from certain of the revenues of the monastery which were assigned to the Novum opus, and were administered by a warden who was responsible for the building. These revenues came from London in Worcestershire, some houses in Kink street and Tothill street, Westminster, from the manors of Hyde and Paddington, and later, from lands in Westbourne and Kensington. But further help was needed, and it is historically interesting to trace the share in the work taken by kings and abbots. Its origin was due to Cardinal Simon Langham, who had been abbot of Westminster; and fortified by his pecuniary help Nicholas Liffington laid the first stone of the new nave on March 3, 1376.

Richard II helped the work in the last 10 years of his reign, when the marble pillars were set up. Under Henry IV the work ceased altogether. Henry V alone for this by making himself responsible for it. He gave 1000 marks a year, and one of his commissioners was the famous "Dick" Whittington. In this reign the triforium was completed, the side aisles roofed, and the clerestory walls well advanced. Unfortunately Henry V died after nine years, and Henry VI did nothing for the abbey.

The work languished until 1457, when Abbot George Norwiche was deposed by a revolution in the convent, and the next year Thomas Millyng took up the work with renewed vigor. He roofed one bay, and his work was carried on to its completion by the abbots who succeeded him, and who appointed themselves wardens. Millyng became abbot in 1459, and when Edward IV's queen fled to Westminster to take sanctuary in 1470, Millyng received her hospitably, and took godfather to the young prince, Edward V, who was born in his house. Consequently after Edward IV's return he with the queen and prince gave gifts to the work, amounting in all to £250; and soon after Millyng was made bishop of Hereford (1474).

John Esteney, who had been warden since 1471, succeeded him as abbot; and in his long wardenship of 26 years he roofed the nave, vaulted five bays of the nave and the side aisles, and finished the great west window. In fact, Esteney practically completed the fabric, and of all the builders except perhaps Henry V) most deserves our gratitude.

His successor, George Fasset (1498-1500), gave £500 to the work, which was finished by the last great abbot, John Islip (1500-1532). He finished it what Esteney had left undone in the vaulting and at the western gable end. Then he glazed the windows in 1507-1510, paved the floor (1510-1517), and put up some stone screens under the towers which have now disappeared. We may date the completion of the work 1528. Islip enjoyed the confidence of Henry VII, who had one nothing for the abbey in Esteney's time, but after Islip had become abbot began to build the great Lady chapel which bears his name; and the abbot put Henry's badges upon his new vaulting. Islip also rebuilt the chapel of St. Margaret's, and he was at work upon the western towers when he died in 1532. His death was practically the end of both of the new work and of the convent itself. The last fabric roll dates from 1533-1534, and almost the last piece of work was the preparation of the church and sanctuary for the coronation of Queen Anne Boleyn on Whitsunday, 1533.

Why He Wants More Money.

James R. Keene, who won and lost fortunes and who played with millions of dollars as a child would play with a heap of sand, was once asked why, having wealth to satiety, he did not give up the game of money-grubbing and seek peace, comfort and contentment.

The answer vouchsafed by Keene may be regarded as that which would be offered by many another man, if the same question were put to him.

"Why do I want more money?" said Keene. "Why does a dog want another rabbit? Your dog will chase the millionth rabbit as though it were the first he had ever seen. He will strive and strain in the pursuit of it to the point of heart-break; one might suppose his soul's life depended on the capture. And yet, should he overtake it, he will cast it aside when killed and begin quarreling the ground to start another. To the last gasp of his breath that dog will chase his rabbit. When you tell me why that dog wants another rabbit I'll tell you why I want more money." — Strand Magazine.

Sunflower Philosophy.

A woman can look important when she isn't, but a man can't do it.

The dictionary should make "born and raised" a correct expression; everybody uses it.

What is the biggest lie in the world? We believe it is the old story about sin being enjoyable.

The pictures should be changed. Cupid is no longer a boy child with an arrow, but a girl child with a gun. It is always impolite to say that a woman, or butter, is old.

A Freshy as green As ever was seen Approached the college door, And into his eyes Came a glad surprise At sight of a Sophomore.

"Good luck," quoth he, "Most surely to me The fates have kindly sent; For who can doubt That I am about To meet the President?"

With heart all abate, Yet scornful retreat, He passed through the sacred door; And even though death Seemed stealing his breath, Addressed he the Sophomore.

"The President, sir, You are, I infer, Of this dispenser of lore; I'm here, as you see, To take a degree." Said the Fresh to the Sophomore.

With rage quite insane The Soph clutched his cane And thumped it half through the floor "The President, sir? You impudent cur! Why, I am a Sophomore!" —September Lippincott's.

Cures Remove Doubt About Eczema Cure

Read What Your Druggist Says About Oil of Wintergreen Compound

The Owl Drug store and the Red Cross Drug store submits the following to the readers of the Star-Democrat.

For several years we have announced, with our recommendation, that we had found a positive cure for eczema; a simple skin wash, oil of wintergreen compounded with other healing ingredients.

Yet we know there are people right in this town who have eczema and still have never tried this remedy.

We have, therefore, arranged with the D. D. D. Laboratories of Chicago for a special offer of a trial bottle at 25 cents instead of the $1.00 bottle as regularly sold.

We offer this trial bottle with our recommendation and assurance that just as soon as the patient washes his itching skin, this mild liquid will take the itch away instantly.

CUTICURA REMEDIES ENTIRELY CURED HER

"About two years ago I contracted eczema and suffered intensely for about ten months. At times I thought I would scratch myself to pieces. My face and arms were covered with large red patches, so that I was ashamed to go out. I was advised to go to a doctor who was a specialist in skin diseases, but I received very little relief. I tried every known remedy, with the same results. I thought I would never get better until a friend of mine told me to try the Cuticura Remedies. So I tried them as the last resource, and I am very glad that I did, for after four or five applications of Cuticura Ointment I was relieved of my unbearable itching. I used two sets of the Cuticura Remedies (Soap, Ointment and Pills), and I am completely cured. I always recommend Cuticura to any one that is suffering and in every case it seems to cure.
